Variety Marks New Lenox Village Board Meeting

Variety marked the meeting of the New Lenox village board on Wednesday night of last week and there will be a special session coming up Nov. 26 to take care of some items that could not be taken care of last week.

One of the subjects of prime importance to the village is the opportunity the community has of acquiring the Methodist camp meeting grounds for a public park. There are approximately 17 acres in the site. Trustee Eugene McGovney has been corresponding with the title holder concerning the property.

The board decided to limit work on the drainage of the area centering on Second and Pine to

Teachers Make Direct Report To Parents

American Education week, Nov. 11 thru 17, is being observed with a practical approach at the Frankfort school.

From Nov. 1 thru the Thanksgiving recess parent-teacher conferences are being held for grades 1 thru 8 in lieu of a report card for the first quarter's grading period.

The response thus far has been very good and it is expected that the conferences will be highly successful.

Parents and friends are reminded that they are welcome to visit classrooms during National Education Week.

Find Car, Tools Stolen At Frankfort Arrest 4

A car owned by Ronald Simerell, a carpenter, was stolen from his driveway on W. Oregon st., Frankfort, last week and with it were his tools which are valued at $300. Both have been recovered.

His tools were found in the home of Roy LePetrie, 18, near 158th street and Wolf road, Orland township, and the car, stripped of several parts, was found in the woods nearby.

LePetrie was arrested by police Commissioner Frank Guetter, of Orland Park, acting in his capacity of constable after he had found the tools in his possession. LePetrie was charged with having stolen property in his possession.

The three youths alleged to have been connected with the theft of the car were in the custody of Tinley Park police on Monday.

Search of the LePetrie dwelling was made by Guetter Sunday on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Roy Benson on information furnished by Simerell. The latter had been making inquiries and chanced on a lead which made him suspect LePetrie. All of the tools were recovered.

According to Guetter, LePetrie said the youths who had the car gave him the tools in payment for his work in removing a fender, the radiator and hood from the car. He declared that he did not know the car was stolen.

The back seat also had been removed from the car and it the street inasmuch as it is practically impossible to obtain easements to carry the proposed drains across any of the properties involved.

Persons residing in the area have been complaining about the lack of drainage there for many years. About three years ago the village board appropriated funds for the job and got bids only to have the improvement founder on the easement question.

Later the village succeeded in getting the state to allow the use of motor fuel tax money on the project inasmuch as it would aid in the preservation of one of the streets in the arterial street program. Bids were taken and a contract would have been awarded but for the fact that the village was unable to get an easement for the tile line.

For the past several weeks Trustee Robert Randolph and Mayor Stanley Gilmore have been attempting to obtain easement for the line but with no more success than has attended the effort for years.

Now the village is going ahead and attempt to drain the area thru the ditches alongside the street and filling up the deep holes dug by the water.

Trustee Don Anderson reported there are 36 sewer users delinquent in their accounts including five that have not connected their properties to the mains. The board voted to proceed against these persons thru the police magistrate's court.

was found in a ditch near where the vehicle was recovered.

According to information obtained by Guetter from Tinley Park police the whole business is alleged to have started when Lonnie Siebrandt, 17, of 17802 S. Ridgeland ave., Tinley Park, borrowed his grandmother's car and wrecked it in a drag race. The grandmother, Mrs. Louise Rothenberg, also resides at the Ridgeland ave. address.

Siebrandt is alleged to have told police that one of his companions mentioned that he knew where there was a car in Frankfort that was of the same make and model as the wrecked one and why not go and get this car, take the necessary parts and make the repairs.

This was done and the parts taken, but apparently the youths realized that completing the repairs was not feasible and abandoned the Rothenberg car and reported it stolen, according to investigators.

Arrested with Siebrandt were Robert Bilthuis, 17, of 6625 Maple Lane drive, and John T. Dolk, 17, of 16812 Riverside drive, Tinley Park. The three were rounded up by Tinley Park and state police. It was state police from Dist. 4 that found the Simerell car off Wolf road but Guetter was credited with breaking the case with the arrest of LePetrie. LePetrie talked, naming the Tinley Park trio as the ones that brought Simerell's car to him.

Mayor Gilmore reported that John Warren would annex approximately 600 acres to the village. The property -- three adjoining tracts -- is west of the village and south of the New York Central tracks. The piece furthest west is in the vicinity of Cherry Hill; the tract furthest east is adjacent to the village and the St. Jude church and school property. In the middle tract, which contains 213 acres Warren would build an industrial park, the mayor said he was informed.

It is expected this annexation matter would be discussed further at the meeting Nov. 26 and it is possible that action might be taken.

Paul Alexander, who is closely associated with Boy Scout work in the New Lenox area but is interested in all activities for youngsters, appeared before the village board last week to ask permission to make an ice rink on the sewage disposal plant grounds. Permission was granted.

Alexander pointed out that Hickory creek no longer provides dependable skating and he believed at a skating surface build up thru spraying would be better.

Another thing to be taken up at the special meeting is payment of a bill of some $500 still due Woodman and Baxter, engineers on the sewer job. The money is due as the final payment on the design of the sewer system, the engineers say. The village has been holding it up because, the board says, the village has had to put in some culverts allegedly taken out and not replaced by Normyle and Berg, the contractor.

The sewer job was accepted by the village about 18 months ago. Several months later the village began to get complaints from property owners that their culverts had been taken out by the contractor and not replaced.

Last July the engineers, who had been asking for the rest of their money since July, 1961, said they would do their best to get some action from the contractor but they would need a list of the locations where the village had replaced missing culverts. The village was to furnish a list but as yet has not done so. The list is to be ready by Nov. 26 now. The engineers wanted to know if the village proposed to take the money they have coming in the event the village fails to get reimbursed by the contractor. Some of the board members are in favor of that, contending that the resident engineer should have seen to it that all the culverts were put back. The village claims to have spent around $1,000 restoring culverts.

Boy Wrestler Fractures Leg

A 15 year - old sophomore at Lincoln-Way high school, David Lewin, of Frankfort, suffered a fracture of his right leg Monday while wrestling in the school gymnasium.

The break occurred several inches below the knee. School authorities had the boy taken to Silver Cross hospital immediately after the accident.

Cuban Situation Stirs Interest In CD Program

Revived interest in the civil defense program which followed the Cuban trouble was reflected in Mokena last week with evacuation drills at the schools.

Parents who form the car pools set up for such an emergency were on hand to pick up their youthful passengers and get them to their homes.

Anthony Dina head of civil defense in Mokena, said he was pleased with manner in which the drills were conducted. There are a number of difficulties to be straightened out, he said, but this was the first time such a drill was conducted.

Dina explained the signals to be relayed thru the siren set up at the village hall site and he asks the public to memorize them.

1. - For fire -- the familiar up and down wailing.

2. Attack alert -- steady blast for three to five minutes.

3. - Attack -- take cover -- a continuous wailing tone but of a different pitch than for fire - three minutes.

4. - Tornado -- same as for take cover. There will be a 5 minute lapse between signals.

Dina passed along information to parents. He advised them to remain at home in time of emergency unless assigned to a specific task. Don't come to the school.

Accept car pool responsibility if asked, if at all possible.

Be sure to arrange for someone to be responsible for your child or children during an emergency if both parents are not home during the day.

If the schools are alerted because of natural dangers or national emergency Plan 1 (take cover) will go into effect immediately. If civil defense authorities inform the local units by radio there is time to evacuate, the evacuation plan will be carried out.

In time of emergency children are the responsibility of the school, it was said, until safely home -- then it becomes a family matter.

A special meeting of the Mokena village board was held at which various civil defense problems were discussed.

Dina reported there has been great lack of interest in civil defense and he would accept reappointment as director only on the basis of full cooperation of the village board and the citizens of the community.

He told Mayor Charles Swanberg that he had received a call from C.D. headquarters Oct. 23 relative to a standby alert but since there was no active CD organization in Mokena at that time no action could be taken.

Incidentally Mokena has been checked by federal engineers and no approved shelter for the public has been found. It is up to the public to find their own, it was said. A basement would be best, it was said, but failing that take a room or closet without windows.

Dina says there is an urgent immediate need for a communication and control center, which would include a tie in with police radio. Dina suggested arrangements be made to send people to Battle Creek for training in the civil defense school.

School Supt. James Ennis announced he has drawn up a school plan in the event of a take cover alert.

L-W Board Acts On Petition To Call Building Bond Vote

In response to an appeal by parents and other residents of the Lincoln-Way high school district in the form of petitions, the board of education last Thursday night voted to call a bond election for Dec. 15.

The vote of the board was unanimous with all present, Lester Case, Elias Brown, Lorin Schleeter, Mrs. Beatrice Link, C. L. Klasing, George Preston and Albert H. Krusemark.

John Porick, president of the Lincoln-Way PTG, which is working for the success of the bond issue, reported to the board that within the next two weeks they expect to have 2,000 signatures to the petition asking that a bond referendum be called. There are more than 1,700 signatures appended to the petition now, he said.

Walter Shewski, organizational chairman for the PTG, outlined plans for informing and contacting the public relative to the bond issue. An informational meeting for workers was held last night at the school. Mr. Porick was enthusiastic over the response the circulators of the petition have been getting.

The amount of the bond issue is $750,000, and according to Mr. Porick a breakdown of the figure shows the construction costs should run about $15.50 cents per square foot, which is said to be a reasonable figure.

The issue has lost twice before in referendums and after the defeat last summer, board members said they would not call for another election unless less requested to do so by the public.

The school is overcrowded now, according to those in charge, and the condition will be worse next year. The board had hoped to gain approval of the bond issue early last spring so work could have been started last summer and thus have some of the rooms ready for use next fall.

At the meeting last week the board discussed several proposals for accommodating students next year. The alternatives were discussed in the light of their effect on the total educational program, the limiting effect on individual students educational opportunities, and the ultimate cost of the proposal.

Housing students in portable classrooms was discussed at length. Such rooms would be acquired on a lease basis. It was estimated that to lease, maintain and operate portable classrooms would cost the district approximately $25,000 a year.

Also discussed was a proposal to lease rooms if possible, at the new Providence high school on U.S. 30 near Gougar road. Cost would be computed on a per capita basis. This was felt to be a short range alternative since Providence high will be needing their space to accommodate their own pupils within another year.

Double shifts also were discussed. This alternative was viewed in the light of what is believed would be the degrading and curtailing effect it would have on the total educational program of the school.

It was pointed out that the North Central Association which deals with the accrediting of schools, is quite specific about the length of the school day. It states:

"The length of the school day for students shall be at least six hours, exclusive of lunch hours."

The North Central Association will make a slight deviation of this rule for no longer than one year in the event that every attempt is made to eliminate the problem, the board was informed.

No final decision was reached on any of these proposals, as the board feels all alternatives should be explored thoroughly and given much study.

Long Illness Is Fatal To N. Lenox Man

Basil Kassian, 74 year old, of Terry Lane, New Lenox, died last Friday, Nov. 9, at Silver Cross hospital following a long illness.

Mr. Kassian made his home with a daughter, Oksana, the wife of Dr. Leo Mursky. Besides the daughter he is survived by a son, Roman, of Toronto, Canada, and a brother Theodosius, Trenton, N.J.

A native of Ukraine, Mr. Kassian grew up there and practiced law until 1943. He came to the United States then and lived at Buffalo, N.Y., until 1954 when he came to New Lenox to live.

Funeral services for Mr. Kassian were conducted from the Baskerville chapel, Lincoln highway and Roberts street at 8:15 o'clock Monday morning to St. Mary's Assumption church in Joliet at 9:00. Burial was in the church cemetery.

VICTIM OF CIVILIZATION -- A white doe, who for several months has roamed the wooded areas of the country side, was struck down by an automobile Sunday afternoon on Wolf road, near 179th street, in Orland township. The animal was hurled free of the pavement and laid there with a broken right sholder and leg until Mark Tuttle, an inspector for the state conservation department in Cook county, ended its suffering. The driver of the car did not stop, unless he was the unidentified caller who telephoned Justice of the Peace Albert Wheeler at Orland Park and told him there was a deer beside the road near 179th street. Wheeler (right) notified Tuttle (kneeling behind the deer) and the speed victim was put away. Since white deer are a rarity this one is believed to have been the one that has been frequenting farms and wooded tracts along U.S. 30 between Wolf road and New Lenox. It was fairly tame and often accompanied cattle to feeding racks. It is difficult for the wild things to cope with civilization. (Semmler Press photo)

the role of a waif who becomes enchanted by a touring European carnival, won rave notices for her radiant performance in "Carnival."

David Merrick now presents the National Company of "Carnival" with Anna Maria Alberghetti, the original Broadway star, to Chicago. Also starring is Jerry Orbach, original Broadway co-star. Others in key roles include Jo Anne Worley, Buff Shurr, Johnny Haymer, Alfred Dennis, Skedgie Miller, Harry De Dio and the Rudenko Brothers.

A frankly sentimental story about a lonely waif's awe-struck involvement in the tinsel world of show business, "Carnival" offers a razzle-dazzle succession of scenes depicting the daily pursuits of such heterogeneous denizens of the big top as a magician, strong man, aerialist, giant, dwarf, jugglers, clowns, dancing girls, trained dogs and puppets.

Audio-Visual Aids Help To Pupils and Teachers

BY COLEMAN ROGERS
AUDIO-VISUAL DIRECTOR AND SUPT. JAMES R. ENNIS

Today as never before, we are reminded more than ever of the increasing pressures that are being exerted upon our schools. Two of the most significant pressures are those of added enrollment and the increasing amount of subject matter that teachers are expected to teach. With these pressures in mind, it is interesting to find out what teaching aids teachers are using to meet the educational needs of the boys and girls in the Mokena classrooms.

The purpose of the audio-visual program is to help teachers correlate the audio-visual materials with subject matter being taught. These materials are teaching aids and must be used properly to develop the results wanted.

The audio-visual equipment includes; 16 mm projectors, film-strip projectors, tape recorders, and record players. It is the job of the audio-visual director to see that films are ordered and equipment properly scheduled. This year a new system of cataloging filmstrips was put into action. Each teacher receives a catalog of filmstrips available and is kept notified of new purchases. All requisitions for films and filmstrips are routed to the director.

In the 1961-62 school year, two pieces of equipment were added to the program. They are called "Wilson Wagon Projection Tables". The important characteristic of these tables is that it makes it possible to show films and filmstrips without darkening the classroom. This makes it possible for students to take down notes and it also cuts down on the cost of making curtains to make a classroom dark.

A cataloged record library has been started this year. The music supervisor is responsible for scheduling the use of the records and the purchasing of new records. The records are cataloged according to subject matter. If a class is studying a social studies unit on Mexico, Mexican music can be ordered.

Those who are involved with teaching must always be on the alert for devices which will help teach the students more effectively and efficiently.

Mokena To Make 2 Streets One Way--Second, Midland

Mokena is to have some one-way streets.

An ordinance covering the thoroughfares to be so used is to be drawn by Village Attorney Ronald Galowich.

Two streets are involved in the plan now, Midland avenue and Second Street.

Traffic on Midland avenue would be one-way going north from Front street to Third street, and on Second street the traffic would be one-way west, from Division street to Wolf road.

The ordinance also will limit parking to the east side of Midland avenue and to the north side of Second street.

There is a demand for the placing of more street signs but this cannot be met until more signs are purchased. It was explained at the Mokena board meeting last week, that Attorney Galowich pointed out that an ordinance should be enacted if enforcement is expected.

The village is preparing for winter -- it is getting prices on calcium chloride to melt ice that may form in the streets.

Seize 3 For Questioning In Frankfort Arson Case

Two youths, one from Frankfort township and the other from Chicago Heights have been charged with arson in conjunction with a fire in the Frankfort area.

The pair was apprehended by sheriff's and Frankfort village police and a third young man was arrested Monday.

The two charged with arson are Billy Staton, 20, who lives about three miles south of Frankfort, and Arthur Burchett, 20 of Chicago Heights.

They also are charged with disorderly conduct for alleged vandalism at the Triple R Ranch and turning in a false fire alarm.

The third man, James Demase, 19, also of Chicago Heights, was brought to Frankfort Monday evening where he was charged with disorderly conduct and his bond fixed at $1,000, according to Frankfort Police Chief Francis Simon. County police were questioning Demase yesterday about fires.

The trio is alleged to have gone to the Triple R ranch last Saturday morning (Nov. 10) and broke a gate and several ornamental lights in the yard. According to the story Simon got from Staton, the three returned to Frankfort and then went to the Adam Heisner farm in Frankfort township and set fire to a corn crib after dousing it with gasoline. They returned then to the village of Frankfort and called the fire department, stating there was a fire at the Triple R, ranch Simon said.

The Heisner fire was discovered in time so it was extinguished with only about $100 of damage. The damage from the vandalism at the Triple R, ranch was estimated at about $500, Simon said. Ronald Coleman, ranch manager, signed complaints against youths charging disorderly conduct and Frankfort authorities also charged them with turning in a false alarm.

First reports had them responsible for the burning of a shed owned by Herbert Folkers, Sr., in Frankfort, but Simon said that shed was burned on Halloween by three juveniles that have since been apprehended.

Burchett, Staton and Demase are to be questioned concerning other fires, it was said, including some of Cook County.

The disorderly conduct warrants were issued by Police

Magistrate Robert Burns at Frankfort. The warrants charging arson were issued by Justice of the Peace George Sangmeister at Joliet and the bonds in those cases fixed at $2,000 each. Staton was released on bonds.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Well, the hunting season is here again and suburban living has become quite hazardous. We are not knocking the sale of guns and ammunition and are willing to concede that hunting has its uses in strengthening the strain of some species of game.

It seems that nature has a way of balancing things if left to operate. And one of the ways apparently is brought about by thinning out the ranks of hunters.

Hunters have various ways reducing their own number. Some stumble and fall, thus discharging their weapon and downing the companion ahead of them. Sometimes they get a person beside them.

The side shot, however, is more frequently the result of the victim becoming caught in a cross fire. A pheasant or a rabbit crosses in front of the hunters and instead of waiting for one to take off ahead of them some eager nimrod will whirl and fire missing the game but bagging a fellow hunter.

Some hunters become statisticians by crawling thru a fence and they dragging their gun thru after them holding on to the muzzle. Sometimes hunters get it be dragging a gun out of an automobile, muzzle first.

Most hunting guns are equipped with safety devices that work very well if they are used. Too many people tho, it seems, either are too careless or ignorant to make use of a safety.

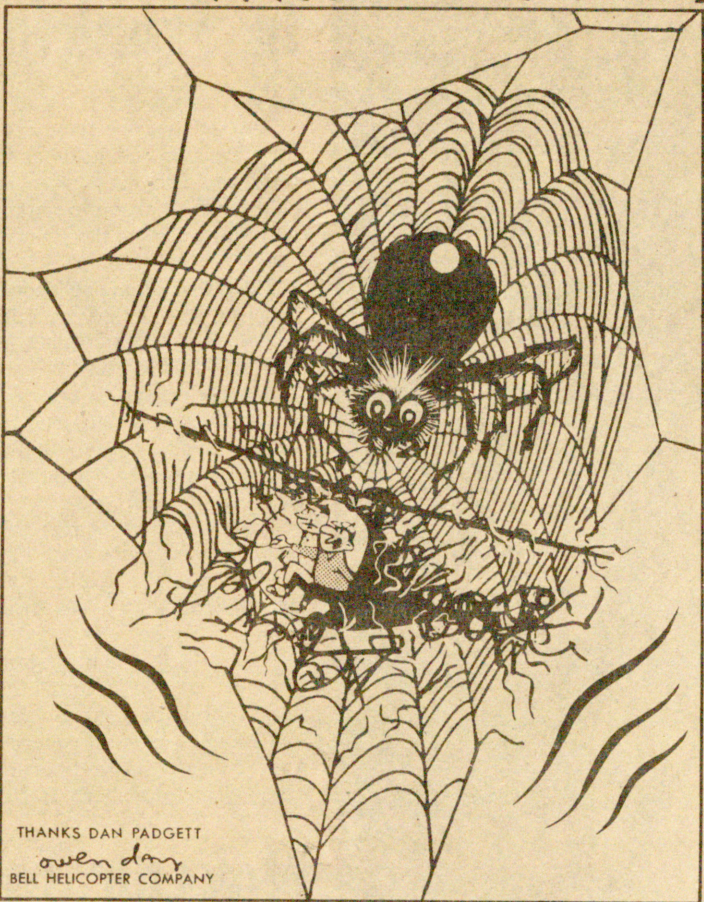

—O—
If hunters were satisfied to shoot some game or themselves it wouldn't be so bad but they also take potshots at domestic animals and threaten to shoot landowners when the latter seek to bar them from their properties.

Householders in outlying subdivisions and even those residing at the edge of villages complain that hunters come up to the back door, doubtless under the impression that the bird or animal they are pursuing has taken refuge there.

One farmer reported that a hunter threatened to shoot him if he attempted to interfere with his trespassing. He had a hunting license, the indignant hunter said, and by George he was going to use and no one could stop him.

—O—
Frankly we don't know how it should be done but it would be a good thing if there was some way to have some of these hunters tested. It seems that when certain individuals get a gun in their hands they become slightly nuts.

COPTER CARTOON by owen day

THANKS DAN PADGETT
owen day
BELL HELICOPTER COMPANY

Else why do they go barging in on property that is posted against hunting and threaten to live the owners who object to their presence.

They must be slightly nuts, it would seem, when they mistake a cow for a rabbit, a hog for a squirrel, or a sheep for a pheasant.

We have never seen a deer wearing a red coat and a red hat or cap but a lot of them must be so adorned because quite a number of hunters wearing such apparel are mistaken for deer every year and shot as a result.

—O—
We think that a landowner should be allowed some rights and if he doesn't want any hunters on the place he should be protected against loss of life or limb in attempting to keep them off.

Some hunters take just the opposite view. As long as they pay the state three dollars for a license they figure they have a right to shoot any time, any place and any thing if they are to get their money's worth.

—O—
We would suggest that the people who are making fallout shelters to peddle among the people might run up a little something in steel and stone to protect suburban families against the ever growing horde of johnny-come-lately hunters.

Good hunters always find a welcome and it is well that they have some privacy and protection. We can't afford to lose them.

Maybe someone will invent a recorder that will fit in a gun stock and so set up that when one cocks the piece there will be a voice come out of the barrel with a message:

"Watch it, Mac, make sure you know what you are looking at before you squeeze the trigger."

Business & Finance

By Maurice P. Angland
The stock market advanced for eight of nine sessions last week with the rail averages showing an upward trend that had not been generally expected.

Thousands of investors and traders watch the Dow Jones daily averages of 30 selected industrials and 20 railroad stocks. The inter-relation of these two averages, is used to judge whether there is likelihood of generally rising market prices or the reverse.

The market, of course, is said to reflect the consensus of investor opinion as to the business picture, about six months in advance. It must be noted here that the emotional attitude of the investor is important as the business picture itself, does not have the wide profit and loss swings sometimes noted in market prices.

To get back to the Dow Jones theory and its predictions of stock market and business in the near future, the action of the market last Friday was a harbinger of good business. Several investment services that use the Dow Jones stock market theory in their forecasts, have noted the fact that the rail averages have had a stronger upward trend than the industrial averages, in recent weeks.

These forecasters note that the rail averages and the industrial averages, almost always stay in the same pattern of movement - except when they signal that a change is expected in the market direction.

This difference of market pattern, has been reliable in recent years, but caution is had until a definite signal is had. Dow Jones adherents believe that the market has to better the industrial average high which was reached in July-August.

This high was 616 for the industrials and 125.49 for the rails.

Last Friday, in the last hour and a half of trading, the rail average rose substantially to 126.05 and the industrials to 616.13. The intra-day high for the industrials were above 620. The rail averages are used for confirmation of the indication of trend which is signaled by rise or fall of industrials alone.

The Dow Jones theorists now expect a new uptrend is underway and that it will carry above the 1961-62 highs.

Dow Jones theorists claim that the market action itself gives a business picture of the next six months, thru consensus of investment action, of men closely associated with business. They also claim business trends are shown far in advance of official corporate reports since investment action of men close to business firms is likely to be based on their opinion of business trends without awaiting formal reports. This, of course makes realistic sense.

Analysts whose advice is based on economics are also predicting business increases as well as further deficit financing and dollar erosion.

Supreme Court To The Rescue

There are some people so addicted to TV that they will watch anything that flickers.

For them a recent decision of the U.S. supreme court putting an end to "block booking," of movie films will mean little if anything.

They don't care what they watch, just so the screen isn't empty. But for those who like to watch old movies but don't want to suffer thru the unwinding of reel after reel of colossal flops, the acting by the nation's top court will bring relief.

We don't anticipate entire relief but there should be some.

The way it has been TV stations have not been able to select the films they want. They have had to buy a "package" of films to get the ones they want. And some of those they have to take are real turkeys.

You may say, "Alright, this station has had to buy some ripe old flops but they don't have to show them. Let them throw those clunkers in the garbage can and just run the good ones."

Well, folks, one can't expect the TV stations to throw money on the ash heap and that is just what they would be doing if they discarded the bad film. Those bad movies cost money.

The stations can't carry all net work shows. For one thing it would be too expensive and for another the FCC requires that a certain percentage of the stuff aired must originate in the studio.

This doesn't mean a station has to put on live performers to have a show originating in the station.

Showing movies qualifies for this but it costs money to even show those old, beat-up dud films.

Operating a TV station comes high, according to the figures so it is to be expected that they toss the bad in with the good. We suspect that the stations do eliminate the worst, altho if anyone is disposed to argue the question we admit that it would be difficult to prove it in the face of the pictures one sees.

Of course, no one has to watch old movies; one can always turn the set off. But your TV addict can't do that. He is like the man in the old story about the inveterate gambler. Every night he sat in a poker game and every night he lost. A friend protested:

"Keep away," he counseled, "that's a crooked game."

"I know," the gambling addict answered, "but it's the only game in town."

Sometimes old movies are the only thing showing on any channel so what is a person going to do if he can't leave TV alone.

Perhaps now that the supreme court has put an end to block booking the TV station owners will restrict their film purchases to the flickers ranging from excellent to fair and keep away from the clunkers.

A picture of the supreme court justices arriving at their decision in this case would not be as exciting, say as a charge by the U.S. cavalry in the nick of time to save the wagon train, but would be more effective.

Need Industrial Area

It is to be hoped that the Will county board of supervisors will not concur with the action by the zoning board of appeals relative to the classifying the land west of U.S. 45 across the road from Arbury Hills as residential property.

This is contrary to the design of the Mokena planning commission for the area. The land west of U.S. 45 should be reserved for industry, the commission contends, and the Summit Hill school board, and many residents of Arbury Hills agree. They were represented at the hearing before the zoning board last Thursday to protest the change.

There is enough land in Arbury Hills to take care of a residential building program for sometime to come, it has been pointed out.

What is important to the area now is to attract light industry to bring some relief from the tax situation.

Eight years ago Lincoln-Way high school district has a valuation of $72,000 per pupil. Now, despite the fact that hundreds of homes have been built -- enough to raise the assessed valuation about 8% a year -- the number of pupils has also increased so that the valuation has shrunk to $50,500 a year and it is estimated that next year it will be about $48,000. This is serious indeed and classifying property residential which should be industrial is not going to help the situation.

It is to be hoped the county board will look at this question realistically and act accordingly.

Letters To The Editor

DISCUSSES ELECTION

Dear Sir:
While campaigning, at the precinct level, for the Nov. 6 election, many and varied subjects were discussed with my neighbors. Never did I expect to find one who would agree 100% with me. It was gratifying to find some who did have corresponding views. The most shocking discovery was the apathy and complacency which was shared by so many.

The average person does not have the time to read sufficiently to keep-up with the news. Few read or search-out information beyond that offered by the newspapers. There are too many trusting souls who place their full confidence in candidates about whom they know nothing but their party affiliations. In fact, these voters do not even suspect the true meaning of the party's platform. They do not have the ambition to learn something about them before voting. Too many vote blindly for a party label because it has been the family tradition. These habit voters do not realize that the two major parties differ greatly from what they once stood.

While discussing the future impact which several bills would have made, should they be passed, some responded, "The people would never tolerate this". When laws are passed, just try to do other than obey them. The Hungarians and all other oppressed people have learned this sad lesson. You will tolerate and obey or suffer the penalties. It is much easier to vote for men who will not enslave you than to get such laws repealed.

The results of the election were not a mandate from the majority of the people. In many areas, the election was a battle between voters who were accidentally casting the proper ballot, plus those who were aware of the true issues and "Those looking for gifts", the uninformed plus the political machines who intend to stay in power regardless of the methods necessary.

For an example, the candidate for judge of the county court, Elroy Sandquist would have made honest elections possible in Cook county. He received 49% of the vote and his incumbent opponent got 51%. This man was not beaten, he was robbed. The machine in Chicago must hold this office to protect those found guilty of fraud at the polls. It is practically impossible to convict these criminals.

The Republican party lost an infinitesimal number of seats in Congress which does not look so badly on the surface. However, several strong Conservatives such as Church, Chipperfield and Mason retired. In the past year Case, Schoepel, Dworschak and Bridges died. Capehart, Judd, and Wiley (40% conservative) were defeated. The voting tendencies of their successors will not be known definitely until the 88th Congress convenes. It is doubtful that they can equal the consistency of our PROTECTORS whom they replace.

Many, who are guilty of voting for the wrong men on Nov. 6, 1962, will soon discover this particular mistake. The 88th Congress will grind-out bills which will further restrict our FREEDOM, condone more appeasement of Communism, increase taxes and further subordinate THE UNITED STATES to the UNITED NATIONS and/or THE ATLANTIC COMMUNITY. In fact, there will be little remaining of OUR GREAT COUNTRY at the end of the KENNEDY ADMINISTRATION.

Probably by November 1964, we will have a better informed Voter. Some folks will no longer heed WARNINGS but when they are affected personally, they recognize DANGER. This is known as "Learning the hard way". The Cubans, even the Russians and all other countries under the RED FLAG, were taken over because the people did not bother to learn enough about their LIBERATORS.

Patriotically yours,
Henry W. Hicks

BOARD OF APPEALS OF ORLAND PARK ILLINOIS
By CHARLES COOPER, CHAIRMAN.

Hints For Homeowners

BY JAMES FIZZELL, ASSOC. FARM ADVISER

We won't have many more chances to prepare lawns and plantings for winter. But proper attention to this chore will assure that everything will come through the winter in the best condition.

Lawns should be raked free of all fallen leaves. Leaves will smother the grass leaving dead areas in the lawn. The grass should be cut to about two inches so that it will not become matted inviting disease. If you had trouble with snow mold last winter spray now with Actidione or Zineb now.

Annual flowers should be pulled out of the beds as soon as they die, or should be dug under. Tender perennials and bulbs should be removed before the ground freezes solid. Be sure to cut back the dead tops of the hardy perennials and rake the beds free of fallen leaves. Some of the diseases of roses can be eliminated in this way, since they often overwinter on fallen leaves.

How a rose plant will withstand winter weather depends on the condition of the plant, and the way low temperature occurs. Plants that have had proper care throughout the growing season are more likely to withstand severe winters than unhealthy plants since healthy plants are able to store the maximum amount of sugars and to mature properly.

Fluctuating winter temperatures are much harder on roses than consistently low temperatures. In our climate, these fluctuating temperatures predominate so it is essential to give the plants some protection which will not keep them warm, but will avoid sudden changes in temperature. Mound up soil around the base of small hybrid teas and floribundas. The pile of soil should be 8 to 10 inches high. Do this after the first killing frost, but while the ground can still be worked. It is probably better to bring in soil from another part of the yard for this, then to risk damage to roots while scraping around among the roses.

Tree roses are quite susceptible to winter injury. In protected locations, the top can be wrapped with straw and covered with burlap. In exposed locations, the plant should be pulled over to one side and covered with soil or straw. Dig under the roots on one side until the plant can be pulled over without completely breaking all connections with the soil, and tie the end securely so that it is not tossed about by winter winds.

Proper attention to preparing your roses for winter will insure that they will come through even the most severe winter in the best possible condition.

Many people lose their chance for an early start in spring because of broken or lost equipment. Mud and rust should be removed from all shovels, trowels, hoes, etc. Rust can be removed with a wire scratch brush or steel wool. After cleaning, sharpen the tools and wipe them with an oil rag to prevent further rusting. Rough or cracked handles can cause nasty blisters. Smooth rough spots with sandpaper and treat the handles with linseed oil. Replace cracked handles.

Sharpen your mower or have it sharpened. Clean grass clippings and oil from all parts with a brush and oil all moving parts. Adjust the blade to the proper height. Gasoline engines should be drained of fuel and cleaned. Fuel left in the tank over winter can gum up the carburetor and fuel lines. Clean the air and fuel filters. Clean or replace the spark plug. Check moving parts and belts for wear. Replace worn parts which could cause a breakdown with heavy summer use.

Thoroughly clean all traces

of fertilizer from your spreader, and oil the moving parts. Fertilizer bags should be stored off the floor, and open bags should be sealed to prevent caking.

Drain the hose and hang it up dry on a hose reel, or store in a round basket. Don't hang it on a hook or nail which might cause a sharp bend and possibly crack the hose. Replace worn washers. Properly installed sill-cocks slope outward so they drain when turned off. Be sure all sill-cocks and outside taps are drained or are turned off inside the house.

If you do not already have one, now is a good time to build a tool rack. Hang your tools so you can find them when you need them. Tools lying on the floor can cause serious falls. Tools carelessly hung on nails or over rafters can fall on you.

Ogilvie Studies Ways To Reduce Sheriff's Budget

(CNS) Two of the outstanding victors in the county election started for short vacations last week, each taking a copy of the 1962 county budget so they could plan where to make cuts to save taxes, one of the main election issues.

One was Richard B. Ogilvie, newly-elected sheriff and only Republican to win a county office, who was going to Arizona for a week with his wife, Dorothy, and daughter, Elizabeth, 7. He has promised to effect a 10 per cent saving in the $5,235,873 salary appropriation for the sheriff's 1,062 employees.

The other was County Board President Seymour F. Simon, Democrat, who won re-election. He left Thursday for nine days in Miami, Fla., during which he would rest as well as attend a theater owners' convention. As a lawyer, he specialized in anti-trust suits based on restrictive booking practices.

Informed of Ogilvie's plans, which eventually will come before the county board for approval, Simon said:

"I wish him well. If he succeeds in getting a 10 per cent cut while maintaining the services of the office, I want to find out how he did it." Simon said he would have another round of talks with county department heads when he gets back in order to keep the 1963 budget within the non-election year levy.

Ogilvie said while he expects to carry thru his 10 per cent reduction promise, and may extend it to impersonal services and supplies as well, he will ask a raise in pay for the 110 highway patrolmen and 34 officers to place them on a par with the Chicago police department, now getting at least $1,000 more yearly. County patrolmen get $5,170 a year. He will seek no increase in numbers.

The difference, he said, will be more than offset by reductions in such categories as 136 court bailiffs and several window washers, who average only minimal windows daily. A contract cleaning service will replace the latter.

"The most effective thing I can do is smash the crime syndicate in Cook county by aggressive enforcement of the law against all their income sources, vice, gambling, prostitution, sale of liquor to minors, a juice men," said the sheriff-elect.

"One of the first things I am going to do when I get back is to confer with State's Attorney (Daniel P. Ward). We have the common problem for fighting crime on behalf of all the decent people of Cook county, and whatever political differences there were should be forgotten."

JOE TOW

"Mr. Jones, the paper states that you and Mrs. Jones left today for a restful vacation auto trip."

Board Invites Questions On L-W Building Needs

The Lincoln-Way Parent-Teacher Group's committee working on the school's building crisis suggested that a series of pertinent questions and answers be printed to better inform the local citizens residing in the district.

The board of education and administration have welcomed this suggestion and agreed to reply to any question submitted to them either by letter, newspaper, personal contact or by telephone.

John Porick, PTG president and Walter Shewski, chairman of the steering committee, listed common questions already called to their attention:

1. Are there any vacant classrooms at present?
"93% of the total building is being used during the entire school day, from 8:15 a.m. until 3:30 p.m."

The last addition provided adequate space in some of the specialized departments for many years. The music, agriculture, industrial arts, language lab and home economics departments are not filled to capacity this present school year.

Actually, many more areas in the building, not designed for classrooms, are being used for classes. These are: cafeteria all-purpose room, boys' team locker room, basement, physical education room and study hall.

2. Why does the new proposed addition cost so much?
"Usually school building costs are compared according to the cost per square foot. Frequently this procedure does not give the true picture because some architects omit equipment, site development and fees."

The new addition being planned is expected to cost no more than $15 per square foot. The architects are planning to change the type of construction from poured concrete to regular steel bar joists. The present building has cost less than many secondary schools in this area, yet is easily maintained and with a very low insurance rate on account of the fireproof construction.

3. Why doesn't the school board consider a second floor? Isn't this more economical?
"The architects have made many studies on this problem as they relate to the present building. The present proposal calls for additions to five separate areas. None are large enough for two stories. A second floor in a school building requires stairways and fire doors at each end of the corridor. These expenses along with the extra costs of the footings offset other possible savings."

4. What about the bus garage?
"Buses have been serviced in what is actually part of the vocational department. That doesn't meet with the approval of the state fire marshal. He says, 'keep buses out of the educational building.' Also, the vocational department needs the space for teaching. So a service garage is being planned, a building about 47' x 62' for servicing buses."

5. Why provide bus service?
"Lincoln-Way school district comprises 93 square miles. School bus transportation is much safer than any other method. In addition, most freshmen and sophomores are not old enough for driver's licenses. Transportation service subsidized by state aid is the cheapest service the school renders. Last year the net cost to the district was $24,728.00."

6. Why not employ a private bus contractor?
"The board of education would not hesitate in awarding such a contract for the same overall costs and for the same service. Nine of the present buses are entirely owned by District #210 with two partially paid for. Public schools are exempt from all federal taxes, receive a $2 "M" license, and operate without a profit. Some of the transportation costs (per capita) in Will county were as follows:

Lincoln-Way, $52.59; Braidwood 32.31; Beecher, 63.10; Crete-Monee, 60.57; Plainfield, 64.30; Joliet 42.81; Lockport 59.59; Peotone, 77.31; Wilmington, 48.45; New Lenox grade school, 54.59; Manhattan grade school, 65.07 and Homer Comm. Consol. 82.13. (Figures obtained from Will county dept. of schools office).

7. Why not charge the students?
"Students cannot be charged and the school receive state aid for arrangements of this kind. In 1953 the Lincoln-Way board of education promised the parents free bus service. This policy has helped reduce the student dropout rate from 50% to the present rate of 16%. Consequently, since many more students are staying in school the building problem becomes more acute."

8. Are private school students receiving transportation?
"Eight Providence high school students either ride to Lincoln-Way or New Lenox. They then transfer to a private bus. Such students are legally eligible for this service."

9. The bond issue previously failed. Why not lower the bonds requested?

"This building program will continue for many years. The district is located in a most explosive population area with almost three townships for expansion. Our neighbors to the east, Rich and Bremen townships, already have two high schools. Sandburg high school has approved its second school Lockport and Joliet each are adding two new complete schools. "Since a year has been lost the new assessed valuation will provide some additional bonding power."
